Council Will Improve Open-Air Skating Rink

This is the official record of the proceedings of the Council of the Town of Wainwright at its regular meeting on Tuesday, November 16th, 1943.

The members of Council present at this meeting were Mayor Middlemass and Councillors Stafford, Robinson, Cork, Lissimore, Coleman and Tory.

On motion of Councillor Stafford, it was resolved that the minutes of the last regular meeting of Council held on October 19th, be adopted as read.

On motion of Cork, it was resolved that the letter from Mr. A. L. H. Somerville, District Airway Engineer for Department of Transport, re test well on South West of Section 32-44-6 W4th, be received and filed for future reference.

On motion of Stafford, it was resolved that on account of delay in forwarding explanatory letter relative to current taxation, Secretary be instructed to accept cheque from the Alberta Wheat Pool as settlement in full for 1943 taxes; Mayor Middlemass and Councillor Lissimore dissenting.

On motion of Lissimore, it was resolved that a Lease for three years be granted the Municipal District of Wainwright No. 392, for property situated on Lots 6 to 10, Block 14, Plan 6445V and that the Mayor and Secretary be authorized to sign documents accordingly.

On motion of Stafford, it was resolved that Mr. G. W. Kenny be paid one month's salary of $143.42 as account in full to date for services rendered in connection with Town Office work.

On motion of Robinson, it was resolved that the Town of Wainwright become a member of the Union of Alberta Municipalities for the year 1944 and that Secretary be authorized to forward cheque covering one year's dues.

On motion of Tory, it was resolved that each family camping or living in Auto Camp be charged $2.50 for lights and $1.00 rent on a monthly basis, charge to be made as from November 1st, 1943.

The following report on Public Works was submitted by the Chair of same and reads as follows:

We, your Committee on Public Works beg to report that we have had the graveling on First Avenue completed from Queen Street West, and we have purchased from Kirwan Construction 261 yards of gravel for this work at $1.60 per yard, amounting to $413.60, and recommend that a cheque be issued in this amount in payment.

Also the two blocks of plank sidewalk on Queen Street have been completed at a cost for material of $351.05.

We have also considered some improvement to the present open air skating rink and would recommend that extensive improvements be made and additional room entrance rebuilt; also the south fence be set back to provide more space for spectators at hockey games, and that the spectators portion be roofed over along the west end and along the sides about one-half way down the length of the rink.

We would recommend that this be considered under new business and that some committee be instructed to take charge of this work and have it completed with the least possible delay.

On motion of Robinson, it was resolved that the report of Public Works committee be accepted and recommendations carried out.

On motion of Councillor Robinson, it was resolved that the Finance Committee be authorized to have rink reconditioned as outlined in Public Works report.

On motion, Council was regularly adjourned.

SLAUGHTERING RULES STILL HOLD GOOD

Ottawa—Prices Board regulations governing the slaughtering of hogs have not been cancelled or suspended, and must be observed as an integral of the meat rationing system, officials state.

Some confusion has arisen in the minds of hog producers over the Meat Board announcement, from the lifting the quota restrictions on the slaughtering of hogs for the domestic market. But this announcement has nothing to do with slaughtering regulations of the Prices Board which are a wartime measure designed with meat rationing.

Soldiers are not permitted to solicit rides by the "thumb" method on highways, but may accept lifts offered to them.

Post-War Plans Air Industry Canada

Montreal—Group Capt. D. C. M. Hume of Ottawa, national director of the Air Cadet League of Canada, said in an address prepared for delivery to the young men's section of Montreal Board of Trade that after the war Canada will have an air force and also an air industry.

"There will be great air lines to fly—there will be an air-minded nation where vigorous young men are needed."

"Air cadet training today," said Group Capt. Hume, "is essentially for young men who plan to enlist for aircrew in the R.C.A.F." Since February of this year, more than 1,500 former air cadets had enlisted in the R.C.A.F.

"Now we teach the technique of victory. Tomorrow we shall have to cultivate the field of freedom which our boys have won. They win their wings in the war and they will gain their laurels in peace."

Tourists Praise Local Ration Boards

Many complimentary references to the efficiency of Local Ration Boards in this area have been received from citizens of the United States who had occasion to make use of them during the tourist season now ended.

A good many of these visitors seem to have been particularly impressed by the ease with which their rationing requirements were met and by the minimum use of "red tape" in their relations with the Local Ration Boards.

They compared their experiences in this connection not unfavourably with their dealings with their own rationing authorities and could not praise too highly the system which has been established by the Ration Administration for handling the rationing requirements of those visiting Canada either as transient tourists or as summer residents.

More Flannelette To Be Produced

Assurance is given by the local office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board that every effort is being made to increase the production of flannelette especially as it is required for the use of infants and children.

It was stated that the Cotton Administration of the Board is hard at work on this problem and is already meeting with a considerable measure of success, justifying the hope that a material increase in supply will be available within a short space of time.

Incidentally, the office pointed out that flannelette supply difficulties are due to a great increase in demand rather than to any curtailment of production. In 1939, 386,000,000 yards of flannelette were sold in Canada, but last year it was necessary to make not less than 760,000,000 yards available to the trade in order to meet demand.

License Needed For Some Deliveries

Anyone handling cream or milk from farms to creamery or cheese factories and making a charge for this service must have a Wartime Prices and Trade Board permit states H. M. McAfee, Services Officer, Truck Control.

Where a permit is issued it is for the purpose of avoiding duplication of trucking service in order to conserve essential equipment. Also, permits are issued for a definite area and no other operator may then operate within the area.

Plan New Bridges For Alaska Road

More than 100 permanent bridges will be in service next year along the 1,600 mile Alaska highway, according to information received by the Alberta Motor Association.

The highway, which at present is for military and not tourist purposes, has been practically completed. Contractors who carried out graveling operations this year have finished or are winding up their contracts under the U.S. Public Roads Administration and the maintenance is being taken over by crews operating under the direction of the U.S. Corps of Army Engineers.

Next year, 14 permanent bridges will be constructed, as steel material arrived too late for work this season. This year, 93 bridges of a permanent nature had been constructed to replace temporary structures, but river flood waters took out 19 in July and August.

Wide interest in the future of the north country, particularly since the construction of the Alaska highway, has resulted in the provinces of Alberta and B.C., railway colonization officials and others undertaking jointly the publication of a booklet and map giving a wealth of information for future tourists and settlers.

And Britain Still Rules The Waves

Nelson's Column in Trafalgar Square, on which Canada House looks out, is just 100 years old. It was erected in November, 1843, as a national memorial to Britain's greatest admiral. It is 176 feet high and its capital is of bronze cast from the wreck of the famous ship, the "Royal George". At the top of the column is a fine stone statue of Lord Nelson in the full-dress uniform of an admiral of the Royal Navy.

The pedestal is 36 feet high, and bears on its four sides bas-reliefs representing Nelson's four famous battles, the Nile, Copenhagen, St. Vincent and Trafalgagr, cast in metal from guns taken from the enemy in those engagements.

The four lions which stand as guardians to the column were designed and sculptured by Sir Edwin Landseer, the famous painter. They have been repeatedly criticized as being unworthy of the artist. But on many "Canadian occasions" in Trafalgar square during this war, they have been useful as supporters for loud-speakers.

WHAT DID YOU DO TODAY?

What did you do today, my friend,
From morning till the night?
How many times did you complain
The rationing is too tight?
When are you going to start to do
All of the things you say?
A soldier would like to know, my friend,
What did you do today?

We met the enemy today,
And took the town by storm.
Happy reading it will make
For you tomorrow morn.
You'll read with satisfaction
The brief communique,
We fought, but are you fighting?
What did you do today?

My gunner died in my arms today,
I feel his warm blood yet:
Your neighbor's dying boy gave out
A scream I can't forget.
On my right a tank was hit;
A flash and then a fire;
The stench of burning flesh
Still rises from the pyre.

What did you do today, my friend,
To help us with the task?
Did you work harder and longer for less,
Or is that too much to ask?
What right have I to ask you this,
You probably will say;
Maybe now you'll understand,
You see, I died today.

—By LT. DEAN SHALTLAIN, Tank Commander. (Written on the Battlefield of Africa.)

Military Whist Party Given By Rebekahs

The I.O.O.F. hall was crowded to capacity on Thursday last when the first of the winter series of card parties awas given by the members of Adeline Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F.

All presetn expressed themselves as having had a most enjoyable time, and the struggle for the winning of flags caused lots of merriment.

At the close the prize winners were announced as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Stinert ,Mr. Fred Church and Mr. L. O'Hara, firsts; Mrs. W. Little, Mrs. M. Forrest, Staff Sgt. Galobois and Corpl. Appleton, consolations.

The members of the Order served a very nice sit-down lunch before the adjournment, when the fun and "visiting" was continued at the two very long tables used.

Health Dept. Plans Free Hospital Service

Calgary—Government plans for free hospitalization of all maternity cases in Alberta after April 1, 1944, were announced by Hon. Dr. W. Cross provincial minister of health, at the joint conference of the Alberta Municipal Hospitals Association and the Alberta Hospital Association here.

The details of the plan will be worked out by a joint committee of three representing the Hospital Associations and three representatives of the provincial health department.

The announcement was made by Dr. Cross during an address to the conference held last week.

He had suggested the free maternity hospitalization plan to the government, said Dr. Cross, and had obtained unanimous approval of the cabinet, If the Hospital Associations approved of the proposal, he said, arrangements would be made to put it into effect after April 1 and the necessary legislation would be passed at the forthcoming session of the legislature.

No More Small Trucks Available

Edmonton—No further truck models under a two ton rating will be available for the balance af the year, H. M. McAfee, Services Officer, Truck Control, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, has been advised by the Motor Vehicle Controller.

No further applications for these types of vehicles can be considered, and permits will not be issued for the coming year during the remainder of the present year, Mr. McAfee points out.

Thus, applicants for these trucks are advised to defer making application until 1944, Mr. McAfee states.

A list of the articles worth their weight in gold to servicemen Overseas has been provided by the Army Auxiliary Service organizations' Supervisors with the troops abroad.

Discuss Problems Of Car Owners

Problems of special interest to Alberta motorists are billed for discussion at the annual meeting of the Alberta Motor Association which will be held in the Palliser hotel, Calgary, on Saturday, Dec. 4. E. W. Maguire, of Calgary, president, will preside.

A meeting of the provincial directors, composed of representatives from Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge divisions, will precede the annual general meeting. Meetings of the three provincial branches will be held during this month in Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge.

Branch reports are expected to reveal a year of steady gains in membership of the A.M.A., establishing a new record high.

Demands for lower motor license fees are regarded as certain to be made by the A.M.A., which has intensified its campaign in this respect during the year.

Federal rationing regulations also are likely to be discussed along with other subjects of interest to car owners, including the proposed use of windshield stickers in 1944, instead of license plates.

Franchise Voting Decisive Four To-One In Favor

The polling on the gas franchise bylaw on Friday last must have proved very gratifying to our citizens generally, for, although not one ballot was cast at the advance poll, the final figures at the close of the day as summed up by Returning Officer Don Pawsey showed that those voting stood approximately four-to-one in favor of the giving of the fifteen-year franchise for the continuation of the supply of natural gas to our residents. The actual figures on the vote were: For the bylaw, 121; Against the bylaw, 35; with no spoilt ballots.

The result will without doubt prove more than gratifying to the hundreds of users of this commodity, who, although having no say in the matter on account of being tenants only, are still deeply interested in the well-being of our town and its status as a progressive center.

The matter of the assurance of a continuity of gas is now decisively up to the Wainwright Gas Co., Ltd., and from the way in which this service has been supplied and attended to for the past 17 years, The Star has no qualms whatever, that the needs of this town and its inhabitants will continue to be first thought and effort of the company which has served us so long and so faithfully.

A fairly steady stream of voters went to the poll practically all day long, and the efforts of those who worked to the end attained are full worthy of commendation. The big majority gains, too, is a plain indication to the Town Council of the desires of the property owners regarding the question of natural gas which has been somewhat of a headache to the "powers that be" for many, many moons!

Reconstruction Plans Submitted by Prov.

Premier Ernest Manning and Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, will make a submission on post-war reconstruction to the reconstruction committee of the house of commons in Ottawa on Friday next.

The Dominion post-war reconstruction committee is headed by J. G. Turgeon, M.P., and is known as the Turgeon Reconstruction Committee. Mr. Tanner is head of the provincial post-war reconstruction committee.

No details of the submission have as yet been revealed, but it is understood certain public works have been suggested for industry, agriculture and development of natural resources.

GETS DEVENISH TROPHY PORT ARTHUR DIVISION

Winnipeg—Finishing the Victory Loan campaign with a terrific drive and attaining 130% of the allotted quota, the Port Arthur division of the Canadian National Railways won the W.R. Devenish trophy, which was presented by the Vice President and General Manager. The trophy was put up at the outset of the campaign for the Western Region operating division which reached the highest percentage of its allotted quota. $213,000 worth of bonds were sold to 1,501 employees, an average of $142 per purchaser.

The W.R. Devenish Shield, given for competition between the four railway shops at Fort Rouge and Transcona, was won by the Fort Rouge Car Shops where $88,500 worth of bonds were sold to 928 employees. The Car Shops have also been awarded a "V" flag by the National War Finance Committee.

In individual cases a recruit who has reached his 38th birthday, but not his 45th, but who is "considered physically able to carry out the special duties because of which he enlisted" may be accepted.

RADIO CHANGES WILL TAKE TIME

"The listening public should not expect too much too soon after the war in the way of changes in radio receiver design," was the warning issued by the Radio Manufacturers Association of Canada at a recent meeting. When civilian production is resumed the first new radios will likely be quite similar to the home receivers last produced.

The radio industry today is totally absorbed in the war effort. The existing chassis designs of household receiving sets cannot be changed at present as they are frozen by the government.

While, as a result of research, accelerated by war, many new radio devices will eventually be produced, no big change in radio design is foreseen for some time.

ENLARGGED MUNICIPAL DISTRICTS NOT FAVORED

Opposition to the provincial government's policy of enlarging municipal districts in time of war was expressed at the convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts.

A large majority of the delegates, by a show of hands, adopted a resolution urging the government not to create more enlarged municipal districts until after the war.

Many of the delegates voiced the opinion that the present time was most inopportune for creation of enlarged municipal districts, even if such enlargements were desirable at any time.

WAINWRIGHT, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 24th, 1943

THESE ARE

OUR CHILDREN

"They shall inherit the earth."

"Yes, we believe this, but first comes the primary need of keeping the heritors alive to possess their own," says Otto Zoff in a powerful article given prominence in the November issue of Survey Graphic magazine.

"What have we done to the children of the world," Mr. Zoff asks. What is to become of them? Something has occurred that is beyond man's ability to grasp."

For about 150 years there has been a steadily growing movement to protect the lives of children, their health and their spiritual development, the author mentions, reviewing in particular the seeming awakening of the nations, in the breathing space between the wars, to the rights and needs of children everywhere. Then came the undoing. Bombs, gunfire, famine and slavery have broken the bodies of hundreds of thousands of children and youth lies crumpled with the noble resolutions of yesterday.

In their thankfulness that bombs and famine have not yet touched their children, Canadians are prone to overlook that there are other enemies that prey on child life.

It is estimated that since the present war began, 80000 infants have died in Canada—thousands of them from diseases that could have been prevented if their parents had protected them by simple, available methods.

"Throughout Canada last year there were nearly 3,000 cases of diphtheria and more than 18,000 cases of whooping cough," according to Dr. E. Couture director of the Division of Child and Maternal Hygiene, Federal Department of Pensions and National Health.

"These two preventable diseases caused over 800 deaths. One marvels that parents are so slow and negligent in having their children safeguarded when the means are so harmless and so readily available."

The infant mortality rate for British Columbia in 1942 was 35 per 1,000 live births. The rate for Canada was 54. "If the national rate was 35 per 1,000 births, it would mean a saving of about 5,000 babies in one year" Dr. Couture points out.

Five thousand more babies! And Canada is talking about the need of greatly accelerated immigration after the war! Wouldn't 5,000 babies, to be raised to citizenship in Canadian homes, be the best 'immigrants' Canada could obtain?

From November 14 to 20 was National Immunization Week in Canada. During this week the public health authorities and the Health League of Canada urged parents everywhere to protect their children against whooping cough, smallpox, diphtheria and scarlet fever. This newspaper heartily commends the effort to arouse parents to their responsibility. It is said that "a nation marches forward on the feet of its little children." Surely children are our most precious asset. Let us make sure that more of them will live to inherit Canada.

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

Capital Tid-Bits: When Gail Patrick, Hollywood's film star, arrived in Ottawa to help in the Victory Loan drive, she wore a tailored black kasha woollen suit by Irene, so there.—The Housing situation is worse here than ever before, officials say — In 37 Canadian centres where the Board Registry operates there are 58,723 seeking homes through the Board — For the first time since erected in 1675, the bells in St. Patrick's Church on Kent Street will be rung by automatic electrical device. — The Overseas Cigarette Pool officials here say 15,030,965 cigarettes were sent to troops overseas in September through this medium alone. — President Roosevelt sent the Governor General a motion picture of the Allied conference at Quebec, and it was given first showing to a distinguished company at Government House. — Prices Board officials say a shipment of 1500 tons of paper was sent from Canada for the British 8th Army for use in the propaganda work in liberated territories.

Total cost of the increase in cost of living bonus effective November 15th is estimated at $53,000,000. It will now be $4.60 instead of $4.25, the latter level having been held since August, 1942. Subsequent cost increase in living index jumped from 117.0 to 118.4 last month.

Canadians are ample savers as indicated by the fact that savings on deposit in Canada's chartered banks at September 30 last amounted to $1,998,904,000. Remember, that's savings alone.

An interesting trade angle: because of the need of foodstuffs at home, Canada so far this year hasn't filled quotas allocated under trade agreements with the U.S.A. Under preferred duty arrangements, for instance, we could have sent three million gallons of whole milk, but to October 2 had only sent 5,585 gallons; out a quota of 1,500,000 gallons of cream only 702 were shipped. We did better in fish, shipping nearly 13 million pounds out of 15 million; only 1.6 percent of allotment of 1,500,000 bushels of seed potatoes went. The calendar-year quota for red cedar shingles is 2,506,072 squares with only 44.9 percent being shipped. We could send 100,000 pieces of silver or black fox furs on a preferred rate, but only 45.6 percent went across the line. We filled our quota of 795,000 bushels of wheat for the 12 months beginning May 29.

This will interest housewives who like salmon, or will it? Although 200,000 cases of British Columbia's 1943 salmon pack may be available for the Canadian market, the greater part will be eaten by other Allied Nations. We will be doubling our 1942 shipments of frozen fish to the United Kingdom, and the entire exportable surplus of dried, boneless and green-salted fish, some 27 million pounds, has been allocated by various countries under a United Nations plan.

The Department of Labour, in commenting on measures taken to alleviate impending shortage of pulpwood and conserve existing stocks, has in preparation a vigorous programme of waste paper salvage. Did you know that many of the pulpwood industry's products enter into essential war use,—such as shell cases,—as a substitute for metal. Wood pulp is nitrated into explosives; plastics substitute for metal in component parts of electrical apparatus, radios for the Navy, Army and Air Force. Components for land and sea mines, submarine detectors and many other devices are made from wood pulp. Millions of feet of lumber have been released in the packaging field, and ingenious uses made of paperboard, thus ensuring safe delivery of food, delicate instruments, clothing, etc., to the front line, whatever conditions prevail here. From dissolved pulp, synthetic fibres are made for tire cords, fragmentation bombs, self-sealing gas tanks. These essentials comprise about 55% of the total pulp wood consumed by the industry. The balance is used for newsprint paper, of which Canada's consumption is only 3%. A notable contribution is British Columbia's aeroplane spruce, providing over 70% of total requirements.

Agricultural notes: In connection with ranched furs, the government was able to see that additional outlets were available and 100 shipments were made to South American countries during the past season. — Approximately 103,000 or 6 percent of the telephones in Canada are operated by rural co-operative companies in which there is a total investment of $20,000,000. — We are asked to send out the reminder that distributors of milk and manufacturers of dairy products must obtain permission of the Agricultural Food Board, Ottawa, to purchase milk or cream from any producer from whom they were not buying milk or cream at September 9th last. — In view of the news that the experimental farm system has developed a sawfly resistant wheat, it is interesting to know that the wheat stem sawfly is a native insect, which has spread from wild grasses to closely allied cultivated plants such as wheat and rye. — The benefits of experimental work is accepted as matter of fact by the public; for instance people who enjoy the luscious Vedette, Valiant and Veteran peaches from the Okanagan Valley may not realize that they are collecting a dividend from the Experimental Station at Vineland, Ontario, where these varieties originated.

Seeing we now have our first Canadian Minister to Brazil (Jean Desy), it is well to note that Brazil is making a big contribution to the Allied cause, her mines and industries being virtually turned over to war production. To Canada she sends crystal rock, an essential material in the manufacture of optical instruments and stabilizers.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has been making an estimate of the national income. You know your own, but what about Canada's? In September it was tagged at $745 million as against $640 million in September last year. Total for first nine months of 1943 was $6,579 million as against $5,515 million same period in 1942. The advance in national income has been sharp since war started.

Women in rural communities, as well as those in the cities, stand to benefit from the price ceiling on cabbage, beets, carrots and parsnips. If they have this produce in their root cellars, they are assured a fair price for these vegetables when they or their husbands sell them on the market. A slight increase for storage costs will be allowed up to next May. In order to help prevent any uncontrolled rise in the price of storeables, the Consumers Branch, W.T.P.T.B., are asking all Canadian women to familiarize themselves with ceiling prices on these vegetables.

ARTIFICIAL LIGHT FOR THE LAYERS

Artificial light increases egg production by a physiological reaction involving stimulation of the pituitary gland which releases more than its usual amount of what may be termed "egg producing hormone", states Dr. S. S. Munroe, Poultry Division, Dominion Experimental Farms Service. This physiological stimulus to production brings about an increased appetite to support and maintain increased production.

There is also an inverse relationship between egg production and the moult. The higher the egg production in a flock, the fewer the moulting birds and vice versa. This is because the more egg producing hormone secreted by the pituitary the less thyroid stimulating or "moulting" hormone it can produce. These physiological relationships provide the key to increased fall and winter production. Early hatched pullets tend to moult in the fall and early winter because they start to lay while the days are still long enough and then undergoe a long period of decreasing length of day and thus decreasing light which gradually reduces the egg producing hormone and allows the moulting hormone to increase. When this shift proceeds far enough the birds stop laying and moult. When a bird starts to moult it requires 6 to 8 weeks before she returns to production.

One of the chief objectives of artificial light therefore is to prevent fall and winter moult in early hatched pullets. This can best be done by starting about the first or middle of October and giving about 20 minutes of artificial light increasing this every 10 days at a rate to approximately compensate for the decrease in natural light. In the fall and winter not only are the days shorter but the intensity of the sunlight during hours of sunshine is much less than in summer so that the decrease in total amount of light supplied to the birds is much greater than it appears. In supplying artificial light therefore it is advisable to make the light as bright as possible by the use of 60 or preferably 100 watt bulbs provided with reflectors painted white on the inner surface to reflect as much light as possible toward the floor. One light should be provided for every 100-150 square feet of floor space and the reflectors should be tilted so that they shine on the roosts as well as the floor.

The lights should be turned on either early in the morning before natural daylight or at night about dusk. With night lighting it is almost necessary for a dim light a few minutes before they are turned off completely so that the birds will go to roost.

For best results it is necessary to start at latitude similar to Ottawa a-minutes the middle of March and none after March 31st.

Friendly Hazing Initiates Airwomen to Service Life

Canadian girls demonstrate they can "take it"

In a spirit of schoolboy friendliness airmen love to tease a newcomer and airwomen arriving on stations offer wonderful opportunities for wit. No tenderfoot goes through more hazing; no freshman a tougher initiation no office boy falls into more booby-traps than the little sister of the service.

They will send her to the laundry to pick up the propeller wash, to the kitchen of the airmen's mess to borrow a compass bow.

"Sgt. Posy is in charge of the station gardening project. Ask him if he's got any compass roses. I want to send one to my Mother."—and away trudges a little AW2 intent on winning the war.

"Do you know what a cardinal point is?" thunders an N.C.O., and a W.D. comes back sturdily, "No, but I'll ask the R.C. padre."

"Flights B and C want to have a ball game," says another wag, "run over to the Sports Director and ask him if we can have the magnetic field to play in." — or — "We want to have a bon fire and we need logs. All the pilots keep logs, ask them if we can have some of theirs."

One airwoman was instructed to go on an impossible errand that would take her far out of bound into the no-woman's-land beyond the tarmac. She knew that something was amiss but could not recognize what, so she kept a perfect poker-puss, "Shall I ask permission before going out?" she inquired.

Her tormentor was delighted at this additional funmaker. "Yes, ask either Wing Commander A or Wing Commander B," he said, expecting her to be overcome with timidity at the big names. What he did not know—because she had never told him—was that her own brother was a Wing Commander and senior officers were just men to her. She had respect for rank but no fear.

"Right, sergeant," she said, turning away smartly. Was the little ninny actually going to do it? "HEY—" he roared after her, "you'd better wait until tomorrow."

Like teasing brothers, airmen have regarded airwomen as fair game, but the girls themselves have proved just how game they are. So game that now the boys are boasting about them.

"There she was," Smith told the Sergeant's mess, "half-way up the ladder before I had a chance to tell her I was fooling. Believe me, she had me scared but she—she didn't turn a hair, I tell you, that kid's got — er — grit."

NOTICE: Owing to the completion of Highway 14, the days the Bank staff will service Chauvin will not be changed from its present schedule. The change previously made for the winter was so that the staff could use the way freight when the roads became blocked. This, we hope, will not happen now that the Highway has been graded up. The days of banking, therefore, remain the same as they have been all the summer, namely: Edgerton, Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays; and Chauvin, Tuesdays and Fridays.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Gilmour of Hughenden were visitors at the Bank House over the week end.

FARMERS AND INDUSTRIAL LABOUR

Some people believe that the interests of farmers and of industrial labour are identical, and that if only the two groups could get together amicably and agree on prices and wages, all would be well.

It hardly seems as though such agreement would ever be possible. Farmers would be better off by having high prices for the foodstuffs they sell and low prices for the goods they buy, but industrial labour wants just the opposite, high hourly wages (which means high prices for the goods farmers have to buy) and low prices for the foodstuffs they sell, so there would be an eternal tussle as to which group, farmers or labour, would win out.

To give an illustration. Since 1913-14 the price of the farmers' products, i.e. foodstuffs, have risen by approximately 65%, but the hourly wages of industrial labour have increased by more than 125%, and these increased wages have in turn greatly increased the cost of the things farmers have to buy for living and production.

In order to do justice to farmers, would labour agree to have the prices of the foods they buy considerably increased, or would they rather have their own hourly wages considerably decreased so as to lower the cost of the things farmers have to buy? This is a question industrial labour itself might answer.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Sweden's 1943 bread grain harvest is officially estimated at about 017,000 tons, or nearly 9 percent less than in 1942. — The drought in Australia appears to continue unbroken. — Production of farm machinery in Canada will be increased in 1944 to 80% of the 1940 production.

It is reported that the German weekly bread ration has been increased by approximately 3½ ounces per person. — World production of corn in 1942 has been officially estimated at the record figure of 5,330 million bushels. — It is estimated that 300 million bushels of domestic wheat will be used for feed in the U.S.A. during the next twelve months.

NATIONAL IMMUNIZATION

In a national Immunization Week message to the people of Canada, the Governor-General, the Earl of Athlone, has called attention to the importance of protecting children against communicable diseases and has commended the present effort to arouse the parents of this country to their responsibility to safeguard health. Immunization Week was held November 14th to 20th.

Here is the statement by His Excellency:

"I desire to call the attention of Canada to National Immunization Week, the object of which is to impress on everyone the importance of protecting children from the four menaces which threaten them—diphtheria, smallpox, whooping cough and scarlet fever. These diseases are all avoidable. They can all be prevented and they can all be eliminated. Science can, however, make little progress without popular support and popular support will not be forthcoming without popular understanding.

"I warmly commend the Health League of Canada in its praiseworthy efforts to provide that understanding whereby thousands of young Canadian boys and girls may be saved from becoming the victims of wholly preventable maladies."

TIN MINE FOUND IN USED TUBES

Ottawa—Like discovering a tin mine, was the realization that from 70,000 used tin tubes turned in by Canadians during the past two months 12,802 pounds of tin were produced.

With all the main sources of tin in the hands of the Japs, Canadians know that turning in old tubes for new is both a legal obligation and a patriotic duty, say Wartime Prices and Trade Board officials.

JAMS, JELLIES ETC., AID CHARITY BENEFITS

Ottawa—'Sweet workers for sweet charity' may increase their benefits through the sale of homemade jams and jellies, says the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Local Ration Boards will give permission for the sale of homemade jams and jellies by charitable organizations without coupons.

Such gifts for charity may only be accepted from consumers, but not from merchants or through trade channels—a beekeeper, however, may offer honey from his personal stock. The sale of this honey at a women's bazaar for strictly charity purposes is allowed without coupons.

CANADIAN DRESSED DOLLS GO TO BRITISH KIDDIES

Montreal—Dolls and other playthings are scarce in the British Isles so that a consignment of eighty dolls, each attired in bonnet, knitted coat, appropriate dress and tiny bootees, now on the high seas, will be a big prize when they reach the Royal Sailors' Rest at Portsmouth, England. This institution takes care of the families of sailors lost at sea. The dolls were dressed by the Girls' Service Group of the Canadian National Telegraphs. The big bundles shipped to Portsmouth contain also a plentiful supply of toys and children's clothing. The Girls Service Group is an affiliate of the Canadian National Railways Employees' War Services Association and since 1940 has sent a score of big bales, each one of which arrived safely.
